

GENERAL REVIEW

Correct the error (only one) in each sentence. If there is no error, put a C to the left of the number.

1. The horse bucking and kicking in the stall.
  2. The air conditioner cost almost $1,000, including installation and service.
  3. Although the strain hurted their eyes, they drove all night.
  4. Everybody wants their life to run smoothly.
  5. Martha and Davids house is a log cabin made entirely by hand.
  6. Sarah driven to distraction by the children.
  7. These holidays brightens everyone's mood.
  8. Tom, who works in two different departments, think that he is going to get a raise.
  9. Neither of the books still has their jacket.
-
1. During the eighteenth century, women's dresses were lovely but uncomfortably.
  2. Ten minutes after they won the tournament.
  3. The electric fans seem to be working well, but the room still seem warm.
  4. To whom do you wish to speak?
  5. Each of the employees wanted to be their own boss.
  6. Jose's posture has improved since has been taking yoga.
  7. The professor who is usually late for class because his watch is broken.
  8. The house that has three bedrooms and two baths were sold.
  9. The new businesses on Killian Parkway creates traffic jams.
  10. Somebody should of told her where to find it.
  11. Sal and her plan to go shopping tomorrow.
  12. The old walrus hasnt been seen around here for years.
  13. There was a Cub fan sitting between my friend and I.
  14. Here are the dentist's office.
  15. The company has set up new retirement plans for their employees.

25. Carlos ran around the track ten times before he realized the coach wasn't there.
26. My sister, she loves to dance.
27. Your report must present an unbiased account of the event.
28. Prof. Jones taught summer school classes for the past five years.
29. Before I saw the article in the paper, I have heard the news on the radio.
30. We ordered toss salad and broiled fish for dinner.
31. Signing autographs always strain her patience.
32. I did good on the test.
33. Elena has read that poem two years ago.
34. Neither the boy nor his father like the report card.
35. Mary first had woven beautiful rugs and then took them to the flea market to sell.
36. The president sought equal time to air his views on the subject.
37. Nobody can enter the building while the movie was being filmed yesterday.
38. He didn't know enough to come in out of the rain.
39. As soon as we were in Raleigh, let's call Uncle Charles.
40. My fever is worse than it was yesterday.
41. The pianist played a song with one hand.
42. One of the candies in the jar is licorice.
43. Which of these three highways is the shortest route?
44. She eats fried foods oftener than I do.
45. The company will hire whomever can do the best job.
46. A lot is riding on this test.
47. The little puppy wagged its tail.
48. Bowling is his passion, in fact, he bowls four nights a week.
49. Christina studied all day Saturday, and on Sunday she went to the library with Jane.
50. The children went to the museum because they were studying dinosaurs.