

THE SAUVÉ SCHOLARS PROGRAM

The Sauvé Scholars Program was established in November 2002 by the Jeanne Sauvé Foundation. The Program is a unique opportunity for highly motivated people of demonstrated leadership potential, who are under the age of thirty. They come to Montreal where they have an opportunity to enlarge upon their understanding of the state of the world and their potential in making positive change to it.

Under the terms of an agreement with McGill University, the Scholars are given open-door access to all courses and programs at McGill. Scholars audit whatever classes they wish. However they do not write exams nor do they earn academic credits.

Each scholarship is worth approximately $30,000CDN. It includes the cost of transportation to and from Montreal, food and lodging while here, group excursions and certain other expenses.

The scholars reside together in the Sauvé Residence, a converted house that is a ten minute walk from the main McGill Campus. Each scholar is assigned a private bedroom with an ensuite bathroom. The house is wired for internet access, has a fully equipped kitchen, dining area, washing facilities, video equipment, computers, and meeting rooms.

Scholars are expected to attend, participate in and organize seminars and meetings with each other, as well as attend seminars, meetings and conferences in and outside Montreal.

This year's Scholars come from Uganda, USA, Russia, Turkey, Pakistan, Kyrgyzstan, Australia, Brazil, Israel, Kenya, and Nepal. To date 45 scholarships have been awarded to Scholars from 37 different countries.

Complete application forms must be received by December 31, 2006.

For information on the Program, how to apply and for profiles on the present Scholars, events and selected publications, please go to our website: www.sauvescholars.org.

For further information with respect to applications please contact:

James G. Wright,
Executive Director
Sauvé Scholars Foundation
1514 Doctor Penfield Avenue
Montreal, Quebec, Canada H3G 1B9
Fax: 514-848-9409
Email: james.wright@sauvescholars.org