Two areas should receive special attention: (1) the implementation of a strong capital campaign through the Foundation, and (2) the College-wide consolidation of efforts to identify and secure public and private grants.

With regard to the former, the College must provide the strongest support possible to the capital campaign effort to ensure the critical internal support. With regard to the latter, the College has selected a College-wide Grants Director who is responsible for coordinating the grant application efforts on all of the campuses.
