Who Owns Historical Artifacts?
(THE SECOND OF A FOUR - PANEL SERIES)

Panel discussion moderated by MDC Professor Dr. Meryl Shriver-Rice will focus on the conflict between public rights, private ownership and appropriate methodology for providing public access to artifacts under the unique circumstances inherent to the Miami Circles, Tequesta Indian sites discovered in 1998 during groundbreaking for a commercial building in downtown Miami. The sites have been nominated to be placed on the National Register of Historic Places.

The panel will include Jeff Ransom, Dade County archaeologist; Prof. Mary Lou Pfeiffer, native religions expert from FIU; Dr. William Pestle, University of Miami archaeologist; Allan Shulman, Associate Professor of Urbanism Studies at the University of Miami; and MDC History Professor Dr. Paul George.
