

Course Description

AFR2131 | Introduction to the United States Air Force - Part 2 | 1.00 credit

This course is designed to examine general aspects of air and space power through a historical perspective. We will cover the time period from the first balloons and dirigibles to the space-age global positioning systems to the Persian Gulf War. Historical examples will be provided to extrapolate the development of Air Force capabilities and missions to demonstrate the evolution of what has become today's U.S. Air Force air and space power.

Course Competencies:

Competency 1: The students will gain a fundamental understanding of both leadership and team building as follows:

1. AS 100 - students will understand Air Force heritage and values
2. AS 200 - students will gain a fundamental understanding of both leadership and team building
3. AS 300 - students will effectively apply their leadership skills
4. AS 400 - students will comprehend the basic elements of national security policy and process

Learning Outcomes

- Communicate effectively using listening, speaking, reading, and writing skills
- Formulate strategies to locate, evaluate, and apply information
- Create strategies that can be used to fulfill personal, civic, and social responsibilities
- Demonstrate knowledge of ethical thinking and its application to issues in society