

Course Description

NUR2220L | Medical Surgical Nursing Clinical Lab II | 1.00 credit

This course provides students with the opportunity to apply concepts of medical surgical nursing. Students will learn to provide health care delivery in both in-patient and community settings. Students will focus on the nurse's role in meeting the needs of the client, family, and community. Students are encouraged to actively participate in projects assisting clients in preventive care and maintenance of health. Prerequisites: NUR1211, NUR1211L; Corequisite: NUR2220

Course Competencies:

Competency 1: Perform a health assessment of adult patients with deviations from normal that contribute to alterations in health

Competency 2: Develop individualized, evidence-based plans of care that include developmentally appropriate cultural and spiritual interventions, along with health promotion recommendations for adult clients experiencing health alterations

Competency 3: Collaborate with members of the inter-professional health care team while acting as a patient advocate in the provision of safe, quality care for adult and older adult clients experiencing health alterations

Competency 4: Demonstrate clinical decision-making when providing direct patient care to adult and older adult patients experiencing alterations in health